“ I have so many fond memories of Ms. Hood and the Hood family, as I was blessed to spend a good bit of time at Hood Manor and had the honor to work for this respected family. When I would visit, Ms. Hood was always a warm and welcoming presence... the consummate hostess! There was always an extra place at her table for those who were alone during holidays or any occasion that the Hood family would gather. And her culinary skills were nothing short of legendary. The woman definitely had a certain flair, both with food and fashion! I admired her understated elegance and her class was unmistakable.

Marianne Hood was larger-than-life in the sense that when she walked into a room, you knew someone special had arrived, someone that you wanted to get to know. She was quick with the quips and always had an abundance of meaningful words of advice. Sometimes these were dispensed with a dash of “tough love,” when needed, for she had the heart of a mother and that heart was as big as Lake Pontchartrain itself.

Although I moved far away from Louisiana, her son Glenn is still so dear to me. I know how deeply he loved his mother and how devoted he was to her. My heart hurts for Glenn, his wonderful father, and the entire Hood family. I know she will be missed intensely. I celebrate this fine lady's life and legacy! Marianne Hood was a true Renaissance woman...a bastion of elegance, a wearer of hats, and a commander of Cadillacs. Anyone who had the supreme fortune of meeting this extraordinary woman was enriched by the experience. I know I was.
