

Chanse R. Ciolino

November 29, 1985 - January 5, 2019

Chanse, 33, resident of Hammond, LA, passed away peacefully, surrounded by his loved ones at North Oakes Medical Center on January 5, 2019. Chanse touched the lives of many during his short time here on Earth. He had a heart of gold and a charm that never failed to leave a memorable impact on anyone he crossed paths with. In Chanse's spare time he loved taking trips to the casino to play poker with his dad. He enjoyed spending time with his niece and nephew. Chanse looked forward to lunch dates with his mom and his sister laughing during their times together. Chanse was a lover of all things but most importantly his family. He was a hair dresser by trade and a poker player at heart. The family chose to honor Chanse's last wishes to be an organ donor. Chanse's beautiful decision to give back to the world helped save three lives. Special thanks to the staff members at North Oakes Medical Care Center for providing Chanse with exceptionally great care during his stay there.

"Our family chain is broken; and nothing seems the same, but as God calls us one by one, the chain will link again."

He leaves behind his parents, Donna Dixon and Charles J. Ciolino; sister, Chelsie C. Martinez; brother-in-law, Blake Martinez; half-sister, Kellye DePaula; nieces, Sadie Wells, and Jessica Fudge; nephews, Addison P. Broussard, and Brock DePaula; along with girlfriend, Nicole Madonna.

Preceding Chanse in death were his brother, Cade J. Ciolino; grandparents, Carl Dixon, Donita Dixon, Laura Ciolino, and Sadie Ciolino; cousin Justin Kirkland; uncles, Piper Dixon, David Dixon, and Steve Dixon; as well as the family cat, Meow.
