“ The last time I spoke with Sam I had no idea that I wouldn't see him again or I surely would have stayed a lot longer but I honestly thought he was going to come through with flying colors and all and I'd catch him in recovery help him get back in his home when he was ready and that would be that. But the good lord has his own plan for us and must have been ready for him to go to a much better place. He was always happy to see friends and family when they would come to his house to visit and would stop whatever he was doing to put on a pot of coffee and set on the front porch and visit as long as they wanted. I'll miss sitting on the porch with him drinking coffee and shooting the breeze but wouldn't hold him or anybody else back from a home in heaven. he was there for me and my family through deaths hurricanes floods holidays and everything else. A good neighbor, a good friend, a good father and a good guy. none of us are perfect and neither was he but all in all he was a good person in my book. He worked hard for everything he had and put his family first and pretty much stayed out of trouble. That's about all a man can do. Like I said, we love him, we'll miss him but he's in a better place than we are and not suffering. We'll keep an eye on his place and my sister takes good care of his dog and feeds tibby the cat and I know he'd do the same for us. and from time to time I'll sit on his porch drink a cup of coffee to remember him. I pray for the family that the lord will comfort them and give them strength to get through this and if any of them need anything just holler at me or snake or tony t and we'll do whatever we can not to mention the many other friends he made during his life that im sure will help.

Your friend till the end,
