

Doris Slocum Herrera

October 31, 1959 - June 19, 2011

Wednesday

June 22, 2011, 6:00 p.m.

- 9:00 p.m.

at

Brandon G. Thompson Funeral Home

Click for Map and Directions

Tribute Wall

Jessica
Parnell

“ Woke up thinking of you this morning, more than usual. Last night I had a dream about you and you were young, healthy, and so happy. You held my hands and looked me in the eyes and said its okay baby, I'm here. I don't know why but for some reason it felt so real. I guess you've been hearing me call out for you and finally you made your way to me. I miss you so much momma, more and more everyday. When people saying "it gets easier in time" they are so full of crap; you have been gone for going on 3 years now and I still think of you everyday. Life has changed so much in just these few years; how can I be happy go lucky when my bestfriend is gone! I cant call you, I cant reach out and squeeze you tight ans never let you go again. Oh how I miss you hugs, your voice. Why did it have to happen this way. The best woman I have ever known! I woke up this morning and for the first time I burst into tears. For the first time in a long time I remembered a dream I had. You holding me the way I wish for every single day. I wish I just had one more day, just more day to tell you how much I love you and how wonderful of a mother that I have. Just more day to hear you call me "Lucy." I look at picturs and just think of every last memory of you, just wishing for one minute I was there again. I miss you so much momma and everyday I just wish I had just one more day with you, but my dream last night was about as close as I can get and I thank you so much! I love and miss yoh momma. Always thinking of you!

Jessica Parnell - March 19, 2014 at 07:56 AM