“Wow so it's been a year :( seems like just a couple weeks ago she was still here and home in her rocking chair. I miss being able to go and talk to her all the time and walk in the house with our dog zoey right behind us going to check on her. She seems to have been the rock for my whole family and what brought everyone together. I wish she was still her but not suffering in pain. I always thought when I was younger that I would never lose my grandparents that they would be here forever.
