“ I met Ella through my best friend Cathy on a bitter cold day in December of 2011 in Chicago. We all convened there to see Tori Amos. I realized from the first meeting that she was a strong force and I always admired that in her. She was creative, appreciated good music, and always knew how to make you laugh. She liked to document her journey with photography just like me. After that first meeting, we had many musical journeys together through the years. I am going to miss those times on a physical plane, but I know her spirit will always be with us and live on through the music, photos, and art we create.
