

Homer Cunningham

May 28, 1927 - August 6, 2007

A great husband, devoted father, wonderful grandfather, great-grandfather, brother and uncle, Homer left this world and went to be with his Lord on Monday, Aug. 6, 2007, at 3:30 p.m. He was 80, a lifelong resident of Albany and a friend to everyone he had the privilege of meeting. Homer was a member of Old Zion Hill Baptist Church and participated in the Korean War while serving our country in the U.S. Army. He was a former alderman and mayor of the village of Albany and a well-known and respected building contractor. Faye Cunningham, his precious wife of 54 1/2 years, survives Homer, along with three sons and two daughters-in-law, David Cunningham, Don and Jennifer Cunningham, and Darron and Karen Cunningham; and a daughter and her husband, Mary and Bob Grace. Also surviving Homer are two sisters and a brother, Beatrice Monday, Corrine Warnack and Walter Cunningham. He leaves behind 15 wonderful grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. The family would like to extend a very special "thank you" to his caretaker, Josephine Franklin. He was preceded in death by his parents, George and Mary Cunningham; five brothers, Brady, George, H.R., Elmore and Wallace Cunningham; and two sisters, Mary Stewart and Alice Loftis. Relatives and friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral service from the chapel of Brandon G. Thompson Funeral Home, 12012 La. 190 West, Hammond, on Thursday, Aug. 9, at 10 a.m. The family requests that visiting hours be observed at the funeral home chapel on Wednesday from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. and on Thursday from 9 a.m. until the service at 10 a.m., conducted by the Rev. Bobby Stults, the Rev. Alton Foster, the Rev. Delmas Taylor and a very good friend, David Albin. Interment in Old Zion Hill Baptist Church Cemetery. Pallbearers will be Dusty Cunningham, Dustin Cunningham, Harvey Cowart, Duke Cunningham, Josh Purvis and Jacob Purvis.
