“ Cody, Colton, and Scott and I will miss Jame James. I know he is happy now. I know those of us here on earth are the only sad ones. James is happy. It's the little silly things I will miss. How when you walk in and he's laying on the couch you see his hand come up in the air and he says HI! I know towards the end he wasn't talking and smiling nearly as much, but he still said hi. Cody always wanted to call you guys and he did at least once a week or so and he always wanted to talk to STella and then Jim and then James. He had to talk to James. Love you guys.##imported-begin##Christina Miller##imported-end##

“ I remember one time not too long ago, maybe a month or two, Cody had asked me to call Stella. At the time James had just gotten out of the hospital. So Cody called Aunt Stella and talked to her for a minute, and then he said, "talk James." Stella told Cody that James was resting and he was asleep that he could call back later to talk to James. So, he said, "I talk Jimmy," and Jimmy gets on the phone. The first thing he says to Jimmy is, "I talk James". Jimmy tried so hard to explain to him that James was sleeping, but Cody didn't understand. He had been able to talk to him every other time he called. Cody hung up on Jimmy that day he was so angry with them. He thought they were being mean by not letting him talk to James; he didn't understand. I know one of the hardest things will be telling Cody he can't talk to James on the phone, but we will let him know he can talk to James in heaven and James will always listen. James always listened to Cody on the phone. I think they had a special connection that none of us will ever understand.##imported-begin##Christina Miller##imported-end##

“ Dear Baby James,

Though your time on the earth was short, we will continue to admire your strength and courage. You will be missed by so many.

I remember every time at family dinners the first thing people would ask when they came in the door was where is James. We all just felt so much love and happiness in your company. Andrew just loved coming out and spending the night with you. I know he felt like he was a big kid like he was taking care of you, but we have all learned so much more from you that we could ever give back.

I know that you will be looking down on all of us and we will feel at peace knowing you are with us where ever life's journeys take us. When times are rough I know we will feel you holding our hand reminding us to have strength, courage, and live to the fullest.

*We love you so much James,
Michele Roberts and family##imported-begin##Michele Roberts##imported-end##*
