“ Andrea- I can only say that you're the strongest woman I know!! I know you have made some of the toughest decisions any wife will ever make and God could not have challenged a better woman! I didn't know Jared prior to taking care of him in the hospital, but what I do know is that he was a special person bc he was loved by so many! Many hugs coming to you and your precious family! I wish you comfort and the strength to get through this extremely tough time! All my love.

“ I truly wish I knew Jared better, but distance didn't allow that to happen. I do know this . . . Jared loved his family and the Lord as much as any man possibly could. He is at peace now, whole, out of pain, and dancing in the clouds with God's arms around him, watching down on Andrea and the kids. Andrea, you have shown such strength through all this that I am truly impressed by you. Your faith in God will see you through the difficulties you have ahead. It will get better. Remember what I said Honey, I love you, Linda

“ Andrea...I only met your husband one time and his manner exuded kindness. The few moments I spent with him when I went to renew my license made me feel I had been in the presence of an angel. I hate to say it but it is so rare to be treated that way by a state or federal employee but it's true. He and I connected with the fact that he knew some of my family and I knew his Aunt Verna. I know he comes from good stock just knowing that. Believe me I know something of your children's pain as I lost my own Daddy just after he turned 46 years old. The most beautiful part about it is that you will all be reunited one day and never more to part. I marveled at all your beautiful pictures...they show me a life well lived. You and your children have my prayers. My heart aches for you.

“ I thank God for the pleasure of meeting Jared @ the Hammond 2 (OMV). It was never a dull moment in the office if Jared was @ work which was everyday. Jared was my Ike and I was his Tina. Jared kept in touch with me through facebook and cell and job and every time we would get ready to say goodbye or I say something he didn't agree with he would say "Eat the Cake ANNIEMAE" I'm gonna miss you Ike

“ In the little time I got to spend with Jared I learned everything about him I needed to know--he loved my daughter and my grandchildren just as strongly and just as much as he loved his Savior. What better testament could a man ask for?

Andrea, I know the days ahead are going to be tough for you and the kids, but you can take comfort in knowing that Jared is now fully healed and wrapped in the loving arms of the Savior he loved so much.

“ I only knew Jared for short time but he welcomed me with open arms into "family". I am disheartened to see such a great guy's life taken way too young. He deserved to have so much more time with his family and friends. I'm bummed I didn't get chance to taste his cooking cause that seems to be one of the many great talents he was know to have. We will miss you endlessly Jared. XOXO--Sheri

“ Jared was possibly the most dedicated, loving husband and father. Andrea, you have been truly blessed to have so many happy memories with your soulmate. Not many people are as lucky as this beautiful couple to have such a strong bond. Kenny and I are praying for you, Alex, and Abbagail to give you strength through this difficult time. Jared will always be with you. Celebrate his wonderful life and the beautiful memories you have made as a family. Our thoughts are with you.

I love you Jared. Though I miss you more than you will ever know I am relived that you are not suffering anymore. We have had some wonderful times over the years and as I sit here tonight all of those memories are rushing through my mind. You were a wonderful addition to our family. Your father-in-law is going to be so lost without you as he has no one to pick on. I now you are rejoicing in heaven. I am so blessed that I was able to be with you as you took your last breathe here in this earth. I wanted to fight to keep you here but I knew we had to let you go as God has better plans for you and for us, Love you always Jared and miss you. To our daughter we are so proud of you and you already know how we feel.

“ To my husband, hero, soulmate & bestfriend, The Lord gained a wonderful angel. I know I am grieving and feel so lost right now but I know you will always be watching over the Kids and I. Through the years you always seemed to still amaze me and put that smile on my face. Nobody knew me like you did. We completed each other and made a beautiful couple. You taught me so much and my love only grew stonger each day we were together. God blessed us with 11 years of marriage, 2 beautiful kids and unconditional love. You are an amazing father and our kids are so blessed to have you as their father. You were always so proud to be a daddy and it came so natural to you. Our time may have been short here on earth but it was worth every minute we were together. One day we will be together forever. Jared I love and miss you, know that you touched so many lives and you are a man of God. I have never been so proud to say that I have the privelage of being Mrs. Jared Brunet! I love you BABY!!!!!!

“ I am so sorry for yours and your children's loss Andrea. You are the strongest and most dedicated person I have ever encountered in my life. Jarod was so lucky to have you. I know you and your children will never be able to erase that day and what happened from your memories, but I can only hope that happy memories will one day over take the bad to where they are almost no more and help you all through this. Jarod is an angel now and is able to watch down on Alex, Abigail and you. Please take comfort in knowing he is now at peace and is able to rest with no more pain. Let me know if you and the kids need anything please. - Kim
