“It’s just hard it’s a different fight ALOT different. We’re on the same team but I feel like I have others I’ve reached and others I need to save. Complicate it maybe it’s complicated for a reason. Trust before I’m done I’m going to fight for the millions lost. I have to 1st save myself and live the life and I'll change and become happy then I'll take on the rest of the lost. They are good great amazing people. I'm going to work on my friends but I'm saved. I'll see you again. Me you Daddy, Alex & Alaina we are amazing. I'm always going to fight for my salvation embarrassed or not. I'm just done with it all. I'm looking for everlasting. Not here but now not tomorrow not next year not 100 years from now. I have to starve that dog. And learn to feed this dog that's going to get me into everlasting life. I'll be there life is temporary. Feed me I'll make it. I'm supposed to save the lost & fight this demon that continuously trying to hurt me. I kill him nightly.

We are stronger together than apart. Let's grow. Let's heal. Let's save others together as a family.”

- Stewart

“ Johnson Jr., man I'm sorry for your loss. Never even heard anything about it till scrolling on the obits. Sounds like he knew where his destiny was, but sometimes we think we can read ppl. In the medical field there is A LOT we see. Some we get through, others-- never go away. God bless ya'll.

“ I'm not sure where to start. Stewart was one of the most generous and kind souls I have had the pleasure of teaching. He had sunshine in his heart. My thoughts and prayers are with you all during this and the future. He was so amazing.

“ I grew up in the LP but had to travel all the way to Whitefish, MT to meet Stewart. Before I even met him, our nursing recruiter had told me about him and said he was a social butterfly. We immediately bonded and he kept me laughing. I always hoped we would work a contract together again. To his family, he loved you all so very much. You raised a very special young man and I pray that the outpouring of love gives you some type of comfort during this time.

“ My daughter attended school with Stewart. While I never met him, I knew his late grandparents. I have been told and have read he was pure light and kindness. This world needs so much more of that. Rest in peace, sir. Prayers of comfort and peace to friends and family.
