“ I only knew her briefly, but knew her courage, kindness and happy heart. Now she is laughing and singing with the angels in the presence of Jesus, with a new body and no more pain or sickness. Know that she is in His loving presence, smiling down on you and thanking you for your loving care all her life, and thanking you for telling her about Jesus and His love. May our Lord bring comfort in sorrow and strength for each tomorrow and the certainty of His presence and love to surround you each day, and the certain hope of heaven where you'll see her and Jesus together. It was my privilege to know and care for her. Beth McQuary, RN St. Joseph Hospice

“ Kristen... I don't know where to begin or how to put my feelings/love for you into words! You have always been and always will be my sweet baby cousin that was known for your big, beautiful heart and love for everyone you knew! As hard as this is for me to say, may you rest in peace and suffer no more. I'm glad that I have all the sweet memories of us growing up together (one not so sweet when you almost bit off my finger & laughed the whole time while biting me 😊). You will always have my endless love!

“ We will always remember how much happiness you brought to everyones life Kristen. My family will pray & support your family for anything you may need.

-He found strength in praise & worship.

It's normal to be upset & mourn.

It's easy to fuss & cuss when upset.

-Don't play the blame game!

Faced devastation but didn't blame god.

You may have questions but not get the answers but you have to trust god.

-Choose your friends carefully during difficult days. We are called to serve one another.

-Hunger for god's word.

Treasure the words more than the bread.

Gods word will hold you together during the storm of life. The word is unchanging & eternal.

-Hold on to your faith.

You may not be able to feel god but he's always there. Job was restored for holding onto his faith & prayed for his friends. Hold onto god & trust him.

Love Joshua, Monica, McKenzie, & Gavin

“ My heart is totally broken by this news! I loved this girl with my whole heart. Kristen's heart is big and she had the brightest personality. I will never forget her smile and laughter! It was an honor to be in youth group with her. This world will not be the same without her.
