“ Lucas, my friend . . . no, my brother in spirit. We share the same birth day, as if one spirit grew in two individuals. "Two sides of the same coin", we used to say. It's been at least 35 years now since we first met. We watched each other change as we grew. Your passing saddens me, but I know our memories will be everlasting just as you now have become.

“ Lucas, old friend, all our conversations are wrapped up in my head where I can revisit them when I choose. I know since I left Hammond that I haven't kept in touch, but I still feel the loss of your presence on the planet. Rest in Peace.

“ My favorite memory of Lucas is him back in the 90s, dancing fluidly, serpentine, as if the music moved right through him like auditory electricity. It seemed he tapped in to the power, and he looked so happy. I will always remember him this way. Fare thee well, friend. All love and light for you, your friends and family.

“ Saddened by the news. Lucas was one of the first friends I made in Jr High the year I moved to Louisiana. We were friends through Jr High and High School, but lost touch over the years. Wish we would have had more time to reconnect. You will be missed.
