“Wow...My name is Earl Fahnestock. Yesterday I was planning a trip to New Orleans from my home here in New Jersey. So I searched the Internet because the phone number I had was no longer working. That's when I found out that he passed away. I worked from Milton in his kitchen way back from 1983-1986 (pre fire). And to this day I've never had a job that was as fun. I have dozens of great stories from those days. Decorum prevents me from sharing them here. He loaned me money one time because I couldn't afford my tuition. Even to this very day I enjoy describing the Prop Stop to my friends. When they say "that can't be true", I only smile. I'm so sad.

One of Milton's sons here. It's very good to hear stories about Milton. He really touched many lives and I have a very familiar experience as to what you wrote about. I'm sure he would be proud to see that his legacy is still remembered.

“ Too many memories to put into words. The world has lost an original that will not be duplicated. I have missed being your "neighbor" but will never forget you. My thoughts and prayers are with Robin and the family. May God Bless.

“ We have so many wonderful, crazy, wild memories of our times with Milton, there isn't enough room on this wall to even get started. He was a great friend and a wonderful scoundrel. His gregarious attitude towards life will be greatly missed. Blue skies Milton. Love, Jim and Laura Jones
