“ Sarah Beth. I loved her always. And I always will. I think one of my favorite memories was a childhood memory. She would get off the bus at my house and we would play monopoly every day. We would play our favorite board game and talk about everything. She was years younger than me and still one of my favorite friends. I'd look forward to picking up our game(and our talks and laughter) every day after school. I know that I'll cherish those memories forever.
