“ Its so weird to know i can never talk to you again when I need to hear your always so positive attitude. I truly hope you had no pain and just went to heaven in your sleep.I never wanted one ounce of pain for you. ill always love and care for you forever. You were the one person who never had one negative thing to say about me and always on my side. Never did you lie to me know matter how bad it was. You were truly my BFF Gram always said "that man sure does love you" and she knows alot. I know when I see here she will be so sad. The last thing you said to me was you loved me for who I am and to never change no matter what. Ditto even in Heaven. Love you to heaven and back. Make sure to spread some great news about me up there so I have it easy when I get there. Love you forever and ever.
