“ Grammy,

It's been a long time since we really connected, but I think about our long phone conversations all the time. You always encouraged me and made me believe in myself. I will never forget your voice and I will always remember the joy I felt in your living room with all your stuffed animals and baby dolls. I'm blessed to have been able to have you as a grandmother and I'm glad that you can now be with my Mom in Heaven.

I love you very much.

“ Unfortunately, I did not get to know you as long as I would have liked, Grammy but from what I did get to know of you, it was very easy for me to see why your daughter (my mom-in-law) was so strong and loving.

You are both missed but I am also happy because now you are both reunited - together - with Love Himself so I smile :)###imported-begin##Jacqueline Millman###imported-end##
